Dear Friends,

After reading Hilary's contribution about creation, I got to thinking about creation. We sometimes sing the hymn 'How great is our God' but do we really think about how great 'He' is. I read recently in a newspaper that scientists have discovered another 'black hole'. Apparently, it is a hundred times bigger than any previously discovered and is hundreds and thousands of miles across. Its gravity is so great that nothing can escape and it even bends the orbits of other planets. What annoyed me was its distance from Earth. We are told that the sun is ninety three million miles away and its light only takes a couple of minutes to reach us. Stars are much further away, so we have to say they are light years away. I have no idea how many millions of miles that is, but apparently, the light we see left before any of us was born.

This black hole is even further away and this page isn't even wide enough to write the millions of miles it is away! It puzzles me how far the Universe stretches and how it ends. Of course, we don't have to look at such facts to see amazing things. Take, for instance the bumble bee. Scientists say that the size of its body and its weight compared to its tiny wings, means it's impossible for it to fly.....but fly, it does! Then there is our old friend, the flea. Again, scientists say that the structure of its legs cannot propel it more than twice its height, yet it can jump fifty times its height.

It is beyond our feeble minds to understand these things but we can sing with confidence 'How great is our God'.

Sid
